INTRODUCTION.

In laying this little work before the public I trust that it will prove a useful guide-book, not only to sojourners in Singapore, but to foreigners and others passing through the port, in whose interests principally this work has been undertaken. Singapore being, as we all know, a great port of call, a large number of foreigners touch here by every mail, en route to China and Java ports, Manila and elsewhere, and these, it is hoped, will find in this work a real guide, and a protection against imposition on the part of our Jehus, which appears to be an every-day occurrence in Singapore.

The Singapore Jehu has various knacks of fleecing strangers. One of his methods is as follows. A new-comer in Singapore takes a hansom, and let us suppose, wishes to be driven to the Water-Works, Thompson Road. The syc instead of driving him there direct, takes him over half the Island with the object of making the journey appear a considerably long one, and obtains double or triple the amount of his proper fare. In some cases caddy is actually ignorant as to his destination. At the same time his ignorance is to him a source of profit, for after driving here and there he at last uncertain where he has to go, and demands an exorbitant sum.

It is with the object of preventing any body from being thus victimised, that The Strangers' guide to Singapore has been compiled. It contains much useful information regarding Singapore, and with a copy of it in his hands, it is hoped the traveller or the new comer will be safe against impositions.

The guide map of Singapore town which this work contains, includes the principal residences and places of interest, each with a distinguishing number, which could easily be traced by reference to the "key" to the map. There is also a plan of Commercial Square showing the different places of business, and a plan of the Government Offices, all of which have been carefully prepared and are reliable.

THE STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.

The Colony known as the Straits Settlements was transferred from the control of the Indian Government and made a Crown Colony on 1st April 1867. It comprises Singapore and the adjacent islands, Penang, The Dindings, Province Wellesley and Malacca.

The Straits Settlements ports are wholly free from import and export duties. The only tax to which vessels entering the port are liable, consists of light dues at the rate of 2 cents per ton register in support of lighthouses.

The revenue of the Colony is derived from various sources, principal among these being fees for licences (opium, and spirit firms), from land, stamp duty &c.

The Government of the Straits Settlements consists of a Governor aided by an Executive and Legislative Council, the latter body comprising 9 official and 7 un-official members.

SINGAPORE.

The Head quarters of the Government is at Singapore. The Island of Singapore is about 27 miles long and 14 miles wide and contains an area of 208 square miles. The town of Singapore which is the seat of Government, is at the southern point of the Island. Here are situated the principal wharves and landing places, public buildings and mercantile godowns.

CLIMATE.

The climate of Singapore is a moist one. There are no regular seasons but showers of rain fall frequently. In 1858 there were 128 rainy days. The greatest number of rainy days since regular observations commenced to be kept in 1869 was 209 in 1870, and the lowest 119 in 1877. The rainfall in 1888 was 65, 56 inches. The maximum Temperature in the same year was 91.5 deg. Fahr. on 5th December, and the minimum 67.2 on 1st February.

CURRENCY.

The Straits Settlements currency is in dollars and cents—100 cents = 1 dollar ($). The present value of the dollar is from 8 shillings to 8½ of English money, or about Rs. 2.4 of Indian money. The silver coins current are 50, 20, 10 and 5 cent pieces, and the copper coins 1 cent, ½ cent, and ¼ cent pieces.

This is one of the principal sights of Singapore. It is so situated four miles from town, and the view is charming. A large Commercial Square is in the middle of the grounds. Besides the various lawns, containing plants, flowering shrubs, and trees, there are numerous fountains, and the whole is a principal object of interest.

- (a) The Nymphe pond containing varieties of water lily and lotus flowers.
 A large lake with a small island in the centre
 The aviary, containing a large collection of birds
 - - - - - to the Malayan Peninsula, besides specimens from all parts of the world.
 (b) The large plant houses, erected in 1884 at a cost of £10,000 wherein may be seen a collection of about 1,000 flowering and ornamental plants, ferns and orchids.
 The Gardens are open to the public daily from sun rise to sun set, and on nights when the Band plays, to 11 p.m.

3. INTERFACIAL THERMODYNAMICS

The Christian Cemetery is situated on the Buck Tree Road, about 3 miles from Johnston's Ferry. It is about one-half acre of about 19 acres and is very easily kept up. It is divided into two portions, one portion being devoted for the interment of those of the Protestant denominations, and the other for those of the Roman Catholic persuasion. Close to the entrance gate is the Protestant mortuary chapel, and at the western end of the Cemetery is the Mortuary Chapel for Roman Catholics of the Portioners Mission.
